HIGHLIGHTS AND ACHIEVEMENTS

MARYLAND COURT LAW LIBRARIES – ACCESS, CONNECT, LEARN.

The Anne Arundel County Public Law Library continued to offer its self-help programs which include Lawyer in the Library programs, weekly in the court and monthly in two public library branches, and the monthly remote MVLS Foreclosure clinic. In addition to the library programs, the library coordinated legal services for the Anne Arundel County Homeless Resource Day. The law library also coordinated with the Anne Arundel County Local Pro Bono Committee to partner with Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. Rho Eta Zeta Chapter and the Anne Arundel County NAACP for a Free Legal Fair and Expungement Clinic at the Boys and Girls Club at Freetown Village. Fifty-two attorneys provided brief legal advice to 392 clients.

The Access to Justice Department installed a Court TV for the viewing of self-help videos in the law library’s Family Self-Help Center waiting room in the library’s self-help area.

Baltimore County Circuit Court Law Library added Maryland Legislative History Bill Files on DVD to its collection. In 2017, the Law Library added another full-time librarian to its staff bringing the total to three full-time librarians. Librarian Scott Stevens earned his MBA from University of Baltimore/Towson University. He also became a notary. This service is now being offered to patrons in the Law Library.

Carroll County Circuit Court Law Library prepared for the launch of MDEC in the Spring of 2018 by sending its librarian to attend a comprehensive 4-day program entitled: MDEC & Law Librarian Training. The “train-the-trainer” program, held at the JCECC, was geared toward teaching law librarians how to assist attorneys and self-represented litigants with e-filing in MDEC. The Law Librarian also assisted JIS staff at the MDEC North Central Registration Fair for attorneys prior to the MDEC launch in Carroll County. Because of the excellent librarian training program, many MDEC users were assisted post-launch and continue to be assisted upon request.

To better assist the public, the District Court and Circuit Court Clerk’s offices in Carroll County refers those in need of legal assistance to the Carroll County Circuit Court’s Law Library which allows people to utilize the library’s research area. To further promote access to justice by providing access to information, the Law Library updated its portal on its self-help computer with a new interface in the Spring of 2018. The updated portal on the Library’s self-help computer station allows self-represented Marylanders easy navigation to the Maryland Courts Self-Help Center, the People’s Law Library, and to many other links to obtain legal information assistance.

Charles County Public Law Library has partnered with the Maryland Volunteer Lawyer Service (MVLS) to provide monthly foreclosure clinics via video chat. Participants are encouraged to bring paperwork. The librarian scans and emails the material to the MVLS attorney who can provide personalized advice. Similarly, the MVLS attorney emails documents to the law librarian to give to the participant.

Howard County Law Library & Legal Resource Center worked with the Court as it implemented mandatory electronic filing in April 2018. To achieve a higher level of service, the Law Library advocated for new state computers and scanners to meet the needs of electronic filers.

To make the justice system more accessible, user-friendly and fair for Marylanders, the Law Library also advocated for its new computers to provide access to all electronically filed documents through a Maryland public kiosk application.

To improve communications with stakeholders and to increase accessibility, the Law Librarian revised the Law Library webpage and the fliers for the Court’s free legal advice programs – the Civil Law Center and the Family Law Assistance Program – by using effective and simple language to create meaning for readers.

Each month, the Law Librarian shared statistics with the public library where the evening sessions of the free legal programs are held. This cooperation supports the goal of the Law Library & Legal Resource Center to be accountable and communicative with its partners.

The Maryland State Law Library expanded and improved access to digital and web-based information resources. The Library’s Scanned Collections were upgraded to Knowvation, to include enhanced search features; a project was launched to digitize Maryland county and municipal codes in the public domain; and the People’s Law Library underwent a technology upgrade and full site redesign. In addition, the MSLL offers programs to assist public library staff in responding to legal information requests.

The People’s Law Library content grew to include new articles, including information on the topics of expungement, sealing or shielding court records, immigration, and limited scope representation. In addition, almost 200 articles were translated into Spanish, providing better access for non-English speakers.

Montgomery County Circuit Court Law Library (MCCCLL) continued to provide full library services to the court, the bar, and the public during the height of major library renovations. To provide access to justice, MCCCLL crafted new guides for pro se litigants, including a popular Montgomery County legal help resources trifold and a comprehensive Mutual Consent Divorce guide. MCCCLL also strived to ensure that its collections were responsive to changing community needs by adding new titles to its immigration law collection. Furthermore, MCCCLL worked with Montgomery College’s paralegal program to get ABA accreditation for its courses and continues to act as a research destination for its local students.

The Prince George’s County Circuit Court Law Library continued several initiatives for FY18. The Law Library sponsored an “Everyday Law Series” for courthouse personnel. The program consists of regularly scheduled events that bring in an expert from a different legal field for discussions and to answer questions from court employees. The FY18 topics included grant writing, estate planning, cybersecurity, and financial literacy. The program has featured judges, attorneys, elected officials, and government officials who have volunteered to share their expertise with employees. Attendees have been enlightened by the information garnered at these events.

Law Library staff continue to serve on courthouse committees and events such as the Special Projects Committee, the Continuity of Operations Plan Committee, and the Volunteer Appreciation Ceremony. Additional memberships in the American Library Association, the Law Library Association of Maryland, the American Association of Law Libraries, and the Conference of Maryland Court Law Library Directors have provided educational, leadership, and networking opportunities that staff members have used to better provide services to the patrons of the Law Library. By maintaining past relationships and forging new ones, the Law Library continues to provide services that ensure fairness and access to justice for all.

Prince George’s Circuit Court Law Library also continued to offer free, open forums for the public and courthouse staff on topics relating to everyday law, facilitated by judges, magistrates, and attorneys.
